CHANGE NOTIFICATION

Product(s) Affected:

Part Number	Description (affected document)	Effective Date
All Neogen® Food Safety Part Numbers	All Neogen Food Safety Products (Labels and Certificates of Analysis)	June 1, 2024

Dear valued customer,

At Neogen, we are committed to providing exceptional products and services. As part of this commitment, starting June 1, 2024, we will be implementing the ISO 8601 date format throughout our global food safety locations so that the dating on our products is consistent across all product lines and aligns with the global standard. The new dating will reflect a YYYY-MM-DD format, and you will start to see the new format as labels and Certificates of Analysis are updated during the normal revision process. The new date format will take some time to apply across the various products. In addition, any new product that is introduced to the market will also reflect the new date format.

You are receiving this notification because our records indicate your company has purchased Neogen products previously. Please contact your sales representative should you have any additional questions.

Sincerely,

Mari-Sue Ratliff
Senior Director, Food Safety Quality Systems
